

Funded by
The Research
Council of Norway

International Workshop Predictors of Reading

Trondheim, April 10-11th, 2025

Location: Digs Trondheim (<https://meshcommunity.com/hubs/digs/>)

Thursday April 10th

9.30 – Welcome, Coffee & mingling

10.00 – 11.00 Developmental trajectories of reading achievement: discriminating between the typical, delayed and atypical - Joel Talcott, College of Health and Life Sciences, School of Psychology, Aston Institute for Health and Neurodevelopment (UK)

11.00 - 12.00 Executive function and reading comprehension in atypical readers - David Saldaña, Individual Differences, Language and Cognition Lab, University of Seville (Spain)

12.00 – 13.30 Lunch (served in open area on location)

13.30 – 14.30 TBA - Yvonne Griffiths, School of Education, University of Leeds (UK)

14.30 – 15.00 – Coffee & pastry

15.00 – 16.00 Individual Differences in the Functional Organization of the Reading System - Jay Rueckl, Psychological Sciences, UCONN (USA)

16.00 – Discussion

18.30 – Workshop Dinner, Rockheim Trondheim

Friday, April 11th

From 9.30 Wake up coffee

10.00 – 11.00 Unpacking reading experience: how book language provides the statistics for reading (and more) - Kate Nation, University of Oxford (UK)

11.00 – 12.00 The literate brain: Neuroimaging studies of language development, reading, reading disability – Kenneth R. Pugh, University of Connecticut/Yale University School of Medicine/Haskins Labs (USA)

12.00 – 13.00 Lunch (open area on location)

13.00 – 14.00 Early prediction of reading and language abilities from prenatal and postnatal neurocognitive development – Marco Tettamanti, Department of Psychology, University of Milano-Bicocca (Italy)

14.00 – 14.30 Coffee & pastry

14.30 – 15.30 Reading and chunking mechanisms – Arnaud Rey, Centre de Recherche en Psychologie et Neurosciences, CNRS | Aix-Marseille Université Marseille (France)

15.30 – 16.30 Early cognitive and linguistic predictors of reading development in primary school - Sascha Schroeder, Educational Psychology, Georg-August Universität, Göttingen (Germany)

16.30 – Closing discussion

Organisers:

Mila Vulchanova, Language Acquisition and Language Processing Lab, NTNU

Valentin Vulchanov, Language Acquisition and Language Processing Lab, NTNU

Inge-Marie Eigsti, University of Connecticut (USA)

Jim Magnuson, University of Connecticut (USA)

Financial support :

NFR, INTPART EDULANG grant (2019-2025)